IS HIDING

AT FINE TUNE WE FOCUS ON THE FINER DETAILS TO REVEAL HIDDEN COSTS

Your Flame Resistant Clothing (FRC) uniform program is costing you

Here's why: It takes industry expertise to negotiate a truly optimal FRC contract. And the implementation of your contract is only half the battle.

Without continuous and vigilant management of FRC program costs, hidden charges can burn you when the bill comes due.

At Fine Tune, we understand all of the finer details associated with the expense and our clients enjoy the nation's best FRC programs.

Do you really know what these areas of your program should cost?

Fine Tune does. FRC programs are full of variable and discretionary costs which significantly impact your bottom line.

Loss and ruin charges

Who lost the garment? Was it really ruined? Who is making that decision? What's the right replacement value?

Prep and emblem charges

Are these costs necessary? If so, what should they be?

Special size charges

What's an appropriate upcharge for larger sizes...if any?

Buy-back provisions

Is a buy-back really necessary? Are your garments truly unique?

Fine Tune has the vision to put you in control.

Fine Tune has a proven track record and years of experience managing major and national FRC programs. Our industry experts will make sure that your FRC contracts are best in class. With the help of our proprietary auditing software, we'll guarantee contract compliance and drive down program costs.

Save 20% - 50% or more with Fine Tune

Fine Tune's dedicated full-service approach includes initial assessment and benchmarking, strategy setting, sourcing and contract negotiations, ongoing auditing and program optimization. This vigilant full-service approach produces substantial savings and creates a unique advantage for our clients. Cost savings of 20% - 50% is typical.

If you don't save, we don't get a penny

At Fine Tune, we don't make money unless we save your company money. There are no upfront costs or ongoing management fees, and no creative definitions of savings. Our only compensation is a portion of the actual hard-dollar savings we deliver. You can't lose!
